

AMERICAN HERO written and directed by Begonya Plaza
Starring James A. Lee and Begonya Plaza

While interested in exploring the human condition and the emotional life that is relevant to our present world I became inspired to meditate a little on the current war abroad that is destroying us inside. We're all connected by a common bond of emotions, and no matter where we are in the world, feelings of love or lack thereof unite us. War is a complex and controversial subject that has the power to destroy or rebuild, depending on each person's capacity for compassion. Within this chaos I sensed the opportunity for learning one man's truth that could inspire the generosity of spirit within us to feel with courage and question to will a better world.
