

Begonya Plaza – Artist Statement

I am so moved by the human experience that I want to take responsibility in my engagement with it. I want my creative interpretation to have conviction of emotion and reflection. I want to catch the ring of truth beyond space and time, and be able to express it fearlessly with disregard of disapproval and egotism. My goal is to grow, learning to become clearer and more forceful with every creative attempt of expression.

As a citizen of the world I realize that art is a universal language that evokes feeling and beauty. My rich bilingual upbringing allows me to speak, write and read in both English and Spanish. I love them both, and I love how words express concepts that humble me, fill me with gratitude, keep me curious and in awe.

Because it is beyond my control how others respond to me or my work, I can't expect appreciation from all, or even most, but life has taught me that there are always, some special particular ones. May my beautiful and witty play "Teresa's Ecstasy" breath life in the hearts of those ones, whom it is graciously meant for.
